

EQUIPMENT AND MATERIALS:

This is a comprehensive list, with weblinks to buy the major elements. We are assuming a TV and a hi-fi of some kind can usually be sourced for free, borrowed etc, but both MUST be checked with the company before installation.

PLEASE NOTE: It is also possible to run GuruGuru using a computer with an external, multi-output A/V interface. If you have both the equipment and the technical expertise, please contact us to talk about this option, as it may work out cheaper than buying DVD players and headphone amps...

1 x TV > Screen needs to be about 15" (38cm) diagonally. Scart or RCA input at the back.

1 x amp and speaker system > any hifi is fine with good, clear sound.

2 x DVD players (per installation) >

DVD players must have 5.1 surround sound with ANALOGUE, RCA OUTPUTS (frontR, frontL, surround L, surround R, Centre, SubWoofer + 1 x yellow composite video). These are usually the cheapest kind of 5.1 DVD players available and are easily ordered via the internet.

Nb - GuruGuru will NOT work with Optical / Digital / Coaxial / HDMI (unless you have a decoder too) or 'Component' outputs (Y, Pb, Pr / Red, Green, Blue).

In the UK, the DVD players can be bought cheaply on ebay or here:

In the USA they can be bought here: <http://www.amazon.com/Coby-DVD514BLK-5-1-Channel-Compact-Player/dp/B000IL3FIK>

1 x Headphone amp > BEHRINGER HA8000 POWERPLAY PRO-8. If you think you have another kind which would work the same way, you MUST check with us first. GuruGuru needs five discrete headphone amplifiers.

– Please note that this amplifier runs on 220-240V – any other supply (eg 100-120V) will require a voltage transformer / step-up

1 x backdrop > 'Insta-Theme' 4ft x 30ft - Sun, sea and sky backdrop. Plain, model 52001.

Please get in touch with the company if you have trouble sourcing one. In USA >

1 x Plinth for TV > so that TV is at the height of sitting participant's heads.

5 x chairs > modern in look if possible

At least 2 x medium/large pot-plants or shrubs / bushes > artificial ones are particularly good. Dead plants can also be an excellent addition (as in above image).
